

Housing Measure In Test

GOP Leaders Snap At Chance to Show Unity to Ike; Is Omnibus Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republicans snapped up a tripleplay opportunity today to support President Eisenhower, to stand for economy and to maneuver the Democrats toward a tight political corner.

A housing authorization bill, in the Democratic-controlled Banking Committee pumped Eisenhower's $1,025,000,000 budgetary request up to $2,850,000,000, offered GOP members a happy chance to display a kind of political unity with the White House notably lacking in the last few months.

Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California, who has called for a three-billion-dollar reduction in Eisenhower's $71,900,000,000 spending budget, made it clear the GOP will take advantage of its three-fold opportunity.

"I regard this bill as a test of who is for economy and who is not," he said.

He said the position of Democrats who have advocated economy but who vote for an expanded and more costly housing program will be pointed out "at the proper time."

Most of the Democrats who faced this political dilemma didn't want to discuss it publicly. Some made it clear they hope compromises can be reached to avoid record roll call votes.

But Sen. Byrd (D-Va.), who wants to trim the authorization back to the figure Eisenhower requested, said those who support the enlarged program will be voting to nullify all economies Congress had made thus far.

There was some argument over this point. Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.), one of the sponsors of the bill, told his colleagues that the housing program has paid its way and possibly made a little profit over the last 20 years.

The pending bill is an omnibus measure authorizing direct Treasury expenditures for slum clearance and long-term loans for college, military and cooperative housing. It continues the insurance program on home mortgage loans.

Not all the Republicans were in favor of cutting the authorization back to the Eisenhower figure. But Knowland and others seemed confident the majority would welcome a chance to line up with the president without sacrificing their economy record.

City Police to Get Summer Uniforms

Sedalia's police officers will dress out in new summer weight uniforms this week. New light-weight navy blue pants, dark blue summer caps, were issued by Chief of Police Edgar Neighbors Tuesday morning.

"I want my men to appear in neat and clean uniforms," Chief Neighbors remarked, "and I also want my men to be courteous to the public as well as looking well dressed."

The police officers purchase their own dress blue shirts from money which they obtain through the annual Policeman's Ball at Liberty Park each fall.

Eliminate Fall Out

Plan Atomic Weapon Tests Underground

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Atomic Energy Commission official said today the commission is working on a plan to test some atomic weapons underground. This would eliminate radioactive fall-out.

Gordon M. Dunning of AEC's division of biology and medicine said that one of several plans for cutting down the fall-out danger from weapons tests is to try "detonating nuclear devices so far underground that all of the radioactive material will remain captured."

Dunning spoke about AEC plans in testimony prepared for a Senate House Atomic Energy subcommittee. The group is studying fall-out, the dropping back of radioactive substances hurled into the air by nuclear explosions.

Higher towers and balloons are being used in the current series of test explosions in Nevada, Dunning said. Other witnesses have testified that, in general, nuclear explosions produce less fall-out the higher above the earth they occur.

Dunning said that the "more than 57" test explosions conducted by the United States between 1951 and the current series resulted in four instances of damage away from the test sites.

Husband of Ex-Sedalian

Navy Pilot Is Credited With First Storm Warning

A U. S. Navy plane piloted by the husband of a former Sedalian is credited with giving first warnings to residents of Kansas City and suburbs of the approach of the tornado which caused so much damage at Ruskin Heights and Hickman Mills.

Piloting the WV-2 Super Constellation was R. G. O'Maley, USNR, whose wife is the former Genevieve Stanley, daughter of Mrs. George H. Trader and Mr. Trader, 1515 West Third Street. The O'Maley's reside in Patuxent River, Md. where a U. S. Naval Training Center is located.

The Training Center newspaper, "The Tanager," had this account of the warning incident in its current issue:

Texas Hit By More Torrents

Flooding Appears To Be Subsiding In Many Sections; Thousands Homeless

DALLAS (AP)—Cloudbursts dumped up to 8 inches of rain on scattered parts of Texas yesterday, but major flooding appeared to be subsiding in many sections of the Southwest.

Thousands of persons remained homeless, however, in Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas as rivers and streams continued to overflow or run near bankful from earlier torrential rains.

Some of the 2,100 persons driven out by the flooding Trinity River in Dallas hoped to return to their homes today. In nearby Fort Worth, where 4,000 fled the surging river during the weekend, water began receding in all areas. The flood victims were not expected to be able to return before the end of the week, however. The river was receding slowly.

The Arkansas River continued to cause damage. Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas said he would appeal for federal aid.

The Arkansas spilled over low-lying farms from Fort Smith 150 miles eastward to Little Rock. Crest forecasts were revised upward a foot or two. Civil defense estimated 1,000 persons have been evacuated, mainly in North Little Rock and including the 400 persons comprising the population of Moffett, Okla., just across the river from Fort Smith.

Flash flooding hit sections of south Texas after the torrential rains yesterday. Hundreds were chased from their homes at San Antonio temporarily when nearly 4 inches of rain sent creeks spilling out of their banks. Roads were closed for an hour on all approaches to the city.

Up to 8 inches of rain fell in the area around Uvalde, Tex., home of former Vice President Garner. Uvalde is 75 miles southwest of San Antonio.

The Medina River was up seven to eight feet in the same area. The Comal River was up eight feet at New Braunfels north of San Antonio and the Guadalupe west of San Antonio was expected to rise to 16 or 18 feet today.

In West Texas, a 3-inch downpour caused some minor flooding at Wellman near the Texas-New Mexico border.

Flooding continued in southwestern Missouri where crop damage has been estimated at 15 million dollars.

One person drowned in Missouri and another was missing in Texas. The Mississippi River rose toward flood stage from Chester, Ill., to Cape Girardeau in eastern Missouri.

Floodwaters covered an estimated 100,000 acres in delta land between the Missouri and St. Francis rivers in southeast Missouri.

Says There Is No 'Clean' Hydrogen Bomb

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate House Atomic Energy subcommittee was told yesterday by Alvin C. Graves, the scientist who bosses U. S. weapons testing, that there is no such thing as a "clean" hydrogen bomb.

This is scientific slang for a bomb that would produce no potentially harmful radioactive substances to circulate in the air and sooner or later fall to earth. President Eisenhower and others have spoken of progress toward a clean bomb.

Graves said "cleaner" might be a more accurate word.

He said he has received probably a greater dose of radiation than anyone now living in the United States. But he added he has recovered from ill effects and fathered two children who he said show no signs of having been adversely affected by his exposure.

Graves referred to an accident in the Los Alamos, N. M. laboratory in 1946 in which a coworker was fatally injured and seven other persons, including himself, were exposed to radiation.

Post Office Will Close Memorial Day

Thursday, May 30, being a legal holiday, all windows at the Post Office will be closed and there will be no delivery of mail by either city or rural carriers.

Special delivery mail will be delivered as usual and the regular holiday collections made from street letter boxes.

All out-going mail will be dispatched.

Sets First Explosion In Summer Testing

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—The United States exploded a brilliant device into the desert darkness today, opening its summer series of Nevada tests.

The 10-kiloton device flared an unearthly light over the test center. A tremendous mushroom cloud erupted into the predawn sky. Shot time was 4:55 a.m. The rising cloud blended at its base against low-hanging blue clouds on the northern horizon.

The top of the cloud coiled and boiled into the sky and drifted away from its stem. The first faint rays of the sun captured the soaring mass with a creamy mantle. Below the cloud cap the familiar dirty brown mushroom stem held firm and then began to lose its shape.

Spectacular as was the explosion, it was small compared with other tests carried out here during the five years the United States has tested atomic weapons on the Nevada desert.

The power of today's device is equal to the energy of 10,000 tons of TNT. This is about half the size of bombs which destroyed the Japanese cities of Hiroshima and Nagasaki in World War II. Bombs of more than 20 kilotons have been tested here.

As the blast went off from atop a 500-foot tower at Yucca Flat 70 miles northwest of Las Vegas, 31 aircraft streaked into the radioactive field to photograph the mushroom cloud and to track its path as the light wind carried it away.

In observation posts ringing the test site were 200 military personnel. The test was witnessed by newsmen from a site 11 miles away.

This explosion, delayed since May 16 by adverse winds was intended to provide the Atomic Energy Commission with information on radiation measurements, flash effects, and fall-out.

The entire series, which will continue until Sept. 1 and will include more than 15 shots, is designed "to attain new knowledge important to the defense of the United States and the free world."

No Garbage Pickup

There will be no garbage pickup Memorial Day. All cans that were tagged because of sanitary requirements and have not been replaced will be picked up the week of June 3.

Attitude on Defense Efforts

President 'Not Happy'

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower was pictured today as "not happy" that House Republicans are battling to restore only about 350 million dollars of a 2½-billion-dollar cut in new defense appropriations.

GOP Leader Martin (Mass.) so described Eisenhower's attitude after he and other Republican congressional leaders had their regular weekly meeting with the President.

Martin was asked whether Eisenhower was satisfied with the House Republican Policy Committee's decision to try for restoration of about 350 million dollars of the cut.

"No he is not happy. He thinks we should have at least $1,200,000,000," Martin said.

"But we have got to face realities—and the fact that we have a strong Democratic House."

Proposed amendments, as announced by the Policy Committee yesterday, figured to a bid to put back into the pending appropriation bill about 323 million dollars cut out by the House Appropriations Committee.

Solon Denies Blair Charges

Governor Blamed Graham For Deadlock on Measures

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Both Democrats and Republicans in the Missouri House applauded today as Rep. Thomas D. Graham denied a charge by Gov. James T. Blair that he broke a confidence.

The denial on the House floor came just an hour after Blair, also a Democrat, told newsmen it was Graham's "arrogance and ambition" that has thrown Legislature into a deadlock on a half billion dollars worth of appropriations.

With just four days left to the session, Graham took the House floor to say:

"If it is arrogance to want the House of Representatives to have something to say on appropriation matters, if it is ambition to want this state to have the best possible government—then I plead guilty."

He said he was almost at the point of asking the House to accept the appropriation bills as sharply reduced by the Senate. Then, Graham said, it will be up to the Senate appropriations chairman, Sen. John W. Noble (D) of Kennett, to answer to the mental hospitals for six million dollars in reductions in their appropriations and to the schools for reductions totaling $1,500,000.

One Senate leader, who would not be quoted by name, said that would suit the Senate fine.

The Legislature must come back in special session next January to handle appropriations for the second year of the biennium and could then take care of any shortages that might exist in various funds.

Blair charged that Graham agreed with House and Senate leaders yesterday on procedure designed to break the deadlock and then walked out on the agreement.

In his floor speech, Graham denied he offered to ask for a House conference in which House conferees would not be limited in their discussion.

He said he made the motion the way he did on advice of their supporters of his stand but it was not a violation of any agreement. The results of that meeting, Graham said, had proved that no one should ever attend such a conference alone.

"Take a friend with you" he counseled.

Besides Blair and Graham, the meeting was attended by Senate president pro tem Floyd R. Gibson (D) of Independence and House Speaker Roy Hamlin (D) of Marion County.

It was after the conference Graham got the House to adopt, for the fourth time, a plan that would have the effect of limiting a House-Senate conference committee to consideration of differences between House and Senate appropriation figures.

$1,450 Is Donated To Tornado Aid Fund

The sum of $1,450 has been received by the local Red Cross Chapter for the Kansas City tornado victims, but a great deal more money is needed.

Sedalians as individuals and as groups are asked to turn their donations in to their local chapter instead of sending it direct to Kansas City. The Pettis County Chapter has been asked to help and a goal of $5,000 has been set which the Chapter would like to reach.

Suitor Held In Hammer Slaying Case

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP)—An impassive, balding Canadian who says he "felt no emotion at all" was held today as charges were prepared in the claw hammer slaying of a pretty dancing instructor 19 years his junior.

Clare Van Horne, 46, London, Ont., walked into a San Francisco police station yesterday with blood on his hands and coat and admitted he had bludgeoned Mrs. Nancy McLennan, 27, as she slept at the home of her mother in nearby Menlo Park.

The slightly built Canadian contended "she was my girl friend up to four years ago in Canada but her mother objected and I got burned over it. We used to go together but then she came out here. . . I sent letters and she didn't answer." He also said she "would not have anything to do with me" because of "some spiritualist church she was going to."

Mrs. McLennan, shapely mother of two daughters, was separated from her husband in London. She came to Menlo Park in November and lived with her mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. William Van Horne. The California Van Horne is the Canadian's brother.

Van Horne followed her to Menlo Park Friday. George Potter, the San Francisco suburb's police chief said there had been sharp tension in the family and that Mrs. McLennan had been trying to avoid Van Horne.

She went to Lake Tahoe with friends Saturday and, upon returning at 11 p.m. Sunday, refused to talk to Van Horne — going straight to her bedroom.

Her suitor remained in the living room and sat brooding in front of a television set, he told police later.

Early yesterday morning, after both Mr. and Mrs. William Van Horne had left for work, Mrs. McLennan's half-sister, Wendy Van Horne, 14, saw Clare standing in the hall outside Nancy's bedroom. She said Van Horne asked her:

"Why doesn't Nancy talk to me?"

"Because she doesn't want to," the girl replied.

Wendy said she went then to the bathroom. She said she came out just as Van Horne was leaving the bedroom, his hands and coat dripping blood.

Van Horne is estranged from his wife.

Dep. Dist. Atty. Howard Hartley said first-degree murder charges were being prepared against Van Horne.

NERVOUSNESS NOT ONLY STATE OF MIND

By Dr. J. J. Rodewald

Nervousness is a general term applied to a wide variety of conditions. There is something wrong with the individual who permits common occurrences to disturb his mental equilibrium. If the nervous system is abnormal, the result may be a gradual breaking down of resistance until a state of extreme nervousness exists. It is then upon the resistance of the nervous system that nervousness or the lack of it is dependent.

Aside from changing the environment of the individual, the chiropractor goes further and adjusts the spine where the nerve irritations exist. In this way he removes the underlying cause of the abnormal and over-sensitive nervous system.

Hoover to Attend Library Dedication

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt are among those expected to attend the dedication of the Truman Library July 6, former President Harry S. Truman said yesterday.

Government leaders will be among the speakers. Asked if the White House would be represented, Truman replied: "For that answer you'll have to ask the White House. No one can speak for the man in the White House."

Truman said Chief Justice Earl Warren will give the dedicatory address.

The 14-million-dollar library building in nearby Independence, Mo., Truman's home, will be turned over to the federal government.

Gunman Relates Woes To Prospective Victim

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Police are seeking a melancholy gunman who complained so much about his bad luck his prospective victim escaped with $1000.

Cornelius McKenna, a driver-collector for a vending machine company, said the man slid into his truck while he was parked in downtown Philadelphia after a collection yesterday. Pulling a gun, the intruder demanded McKenna open a money box in the rear of the truck. McKenna said he told a white lie that he didn't have the key to the box, which contained $1,000.

"You sure?" the desperado asked plaintively.

McKenna replied he was real sure. The man forced him at gunpoint to drive around the city for almost two hours. He complained about his hard luck all the while. With a final wall that this was another "lousy job," the gunman told McKenna to let him off in North Philadelphia and disappeared.

The date was set yesterday by Judge Robert L. Taylor.

The defendants are charged with criminal contempt of court for allegedly interfering with peaceful integration at nearby Clinton High School in violation of a permanent injunction against such activities.

Charges of criminal contempt of court against 16-year-old James Dale Patmore, also accused of conspiring with Kasper to interfere with racial integration at the school, were dismissed by Taylor yesterday at the request of U.S. Dist. Atty. John C. Crawford Jr. Patmore is serving a burglary sentence in the state reformatory.

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Fifteen-year-old Harry Finan was robbed of $907 entrusted to him by the St. Rose of Lima Parochial School yesterday, police reported.

Circuit Judge Is Impeached By Florida House

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Circuit Judge George E. Holt was impeached yesterday by the Florida House, which approved an investigating committee's report that the Miami judge had brought "his court into scandal and disrepute" and was no longer fit to serve as a jurist.

The vote to impeach was 65-25. Holt, 54, has served as circuit judge for 16 years. He is disqualified from his judicial duties until he is tried and acquitted by the Florida Senate.

House impeachment has the effect of a grand jury indictment. The Senate trial is expected to begin in about a month.

The committee, which investigated Holt for seven weeks, charged that he accepted favors and borrowed money from attorneys practicing before him, permitted his personal relationships with individuals to influence his judicial appointments and the allowance of fees and violated the code of ethics governing judges.

County Agent Recommends Steps to Control Insects

By Merle Vaughan

In the southern half of the state, armyworms are becoming a problem in rank grain — particularly in barley. Damage so far is largely leaf stripping, but as the worms get larger and the grain begins to ripen, head cutting will start.

Check fields closely, and if you find as many as four army worms per square foot, we suggest the field be sprayed.

For control in small grain, use toxaphene at 1 1/2 to 2 pounds per acre, or dieldrin at four ounces per acre.

Don't wait too long on spraying. It gets rough when a person waits until head clipping starts, and then we run into a week of bad weather which prevents spraying.

This has developed into an ideal cutworm year. Heavy damage to corn is beginning to show up in some fields in the central and southern sections of the state. This injury will increase during the next couple of weeks since most of the worms we are finding are only about half grown.

So, far, worms are working this year somewhat differently from the past several years. Apparently because of the packed soil conditions resulting from so much rain, most of the plants are being cut off above the ground. As long as the soil remains packed, the worms will undoubtedly continue to work in this manner. This means that the chances of getting control by spraying a band over the row is much better now than it may be later, and better than the chances have been during past years.

For the band application, plug the nozzles between the rows, and direct a spray swath about 12 inches wide on the row. Use toxaphene at two pounds per acre, or dieldrin at four ounces per acre.

The big difficulty we've had with this method in the past has been that control has been so slow that by the time the worms were killed, enough more damage had been done that it was still necessary to replant.

In fields where replanting is necessary, don't replant without first using a soil insecticide. Use two pounds of aldrin or heptachlor, sprayed on the soil and disked in immediately. For those who still have corn to plant, keep in mind that this looks to be one of those years when a soil insecticide will probably pay off in big dividends.

We are also finding a lot of variegated cutworms in alfalfa. These worms are grayish to brown, with characteristic orange dots in the middle of the back.

Damage is not noticeable until after the hay is cut. The worms then feed on the new growth, and when infestations are heavy, will keep the field from ever greening up again. The best way to check for the worms is to look under hay that has been in the swath or windrow for several hours.

Control is to spray with toxaphene at 1 1/2 pounds per acre, or dieldrin at four ounces per acre. But spray before the new growth is more than 2 to 3 inches tall. Too much insecticide will be left on the hay if you spray later.

There are still a lot of aphids around. On crops, the most noticeable ones are English grain aphid in small grains. So far, we have not found any fields heavily enough infested to warrant spraying. You will notice these aphids feeding on the heads, but as a rule of thumb to follow, we believe there should be at least an average of about 20-30 aphids per head before spraying will be justified.

Many ornamentals are literally plastered with aphids. To control these, use malathion at the rate of five teaspoons of 25 per cent malathion wettable powder, or two teaspoons of 57 per cent malathion emulsifiable concentrate in a gallon of water.

QUICK SOIL TESTING—The objects that look like large square dominos are testing plates used in the quick soil tests for available lime and phosphate. The man is Extension Soils Specialist, Marshall Christy, who was in the county recently to teach 18 local folks how to use the tests. After the training meeting, which was held at Ernest Schlobohm's, the folks returned to their farms to check each field there. Soil samples were taken with the sampling tubes in the foreground. The cores of soil were left in the tubes and tiny samples were taken at the 1, 3, 5, and 7 inch depths and placed in the depressions on the testing plates. A purple solution was used to test for lime. If the lime supply was adequate the sample stayed purple, but it was short, the sample took on a yellow color. The two solutions for testing for phosphate were colorless but if adequate phosphate was present the solution on the samples turned blue with the density of color increasing with the amount of available phosphate. The above test is not designed to take the place of a regular soil test but it is a quick way to determine something of the availability of lime and phosphate in a particular field. Slightly Injured, Buried In Rocks

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Five tons of small size rocks buried a 31-year-old construction worker here yesterday but he was apparently not injured severely.

Police said Forest Fults of suburban Valley Park was standing alongside a temporary driveway of railroad ties at the Holy Innocents School construction site when the accident occurred.

A tie broke and a truckload of the two-inch size rocks cascaded down on Fults when the backing truck upset.

Fellow workers quickly uncovered his head and then freed him. Fults walked to an ambulance and was taken to City Hospital for X-rays.

Fire Sweeps Through Three Story House

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Fire swept through a vacant three-story house at the west edge of Kansas City's downtown business district last night and routed 75 residents from the Touraine Apartments, next door at 1412 Central street.

George Hillson, fire battalion chief, said a tramp might have started the fire. No damage estimate was set because the old house had been condemned.

Most of the Touraine residents scrambled out into the street in their night clothes. They returned as soon as the fire was brought under control.

Is Rescued From Abandoned Mine

HARLAN, Ky. (AP)—Trapped in the lonely depths of an abandoned mine, 50-year-old Cantrell Owens put his faith in God and sat down to pray.

He had walked into the shaft Saturday, looking for scrap copper. As he wound his way through, his miner's light went out.

"I began groping my way through the mine," he said. "The more I walked the more confused I became."

That's when he decided to pray and hope for the best.

Thanks to a sharp-eyed search party that spotted tobacco grains and some footprints, Owens was rescued from the pit yesterday.

His only complaints were of mild hunger and a cough.

Construction of several huge woolen mills in South Carolina made Charleston a leading port of entry for raw wool, mostly coming from Australia and New Zealand.

Women to Enforce Parking Regulations

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A class of 10 women began training yesterday as "meter maids," with a police superintendent taking care of the legal instruction and a fashion expert on hand to provide the feminine touch.

The meter maids will go on duty next Monday enforcing the city's parking regulations. If the system works out as hoped, more will be hired, says Police Commissioner Thomas J. Gibbons.

D-X BORON

For many years intensive research has been devoted to the chemical element boron. Until recently boron has been little known to the public, but scientists have long considered it a potential source of great energy. This intensive research on boron has led to its use in jet fuels, and it is being tested now for powering intercontinental guided missiles.

D-X Sunray scientists have kept abreast of this research in an effort to produce a better motor fuel for you. Now, as a result of expanded research facilities, a ten-million-dollar investment in refining equipment, and hundreds of thousands of miles of test driving, we have perfected an entirely new motor fuel. I am proud to announce D-X Boron!

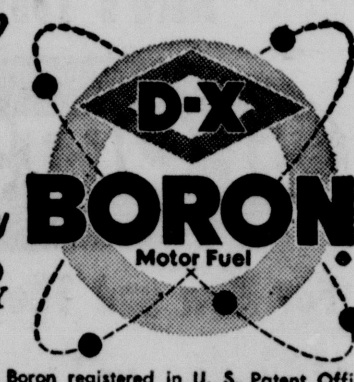

D-X Boron Motor Fuel is an extremely important discovery to every motorist. With D-X Boron you will enjoy more power per gallon than from any automotive fuel available today. D-X Boron will obtain maximum road performance from your car—new or old.

It has always been our policy at D-X Sunray to guarantee all of our products unconditionally. D-X Boron is no exception.

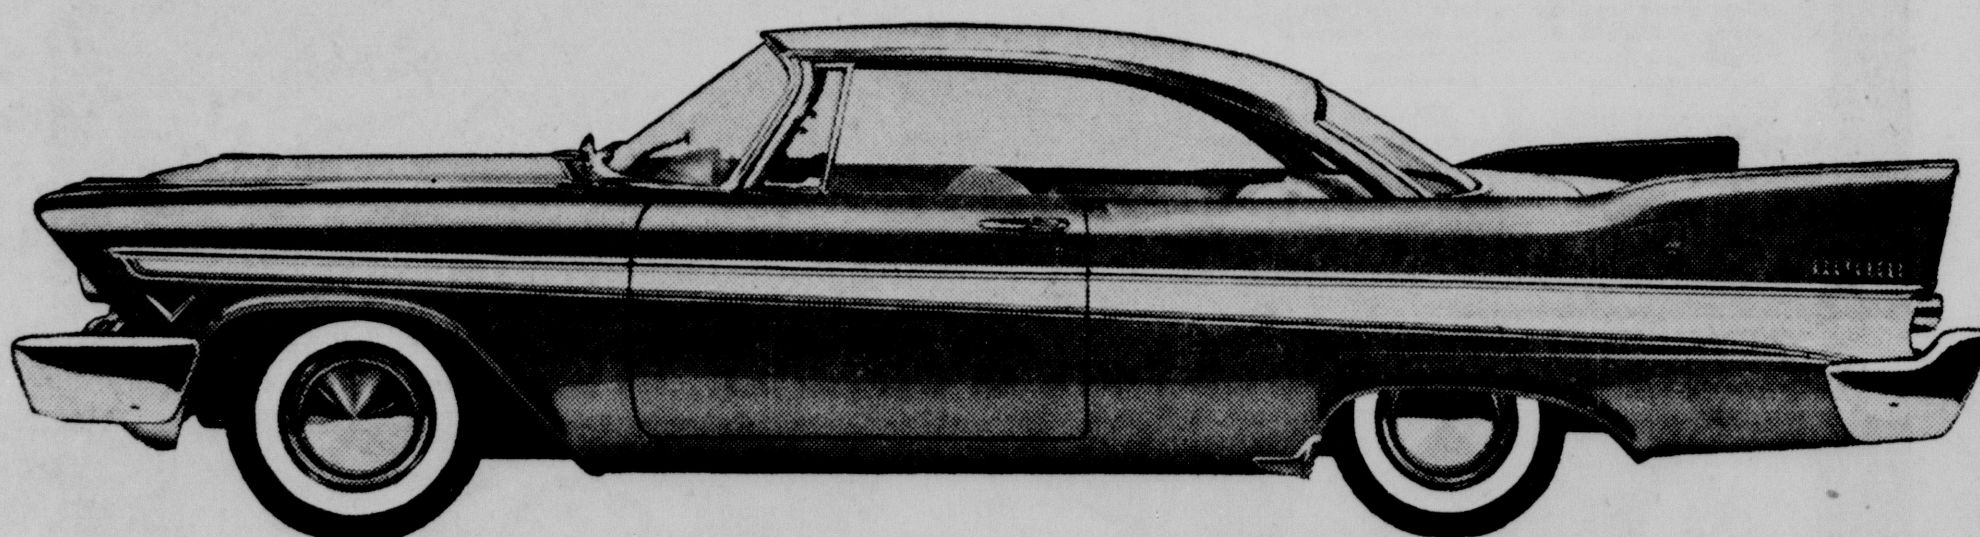

I personally invite you to visit your neighborhood D-X dealer and try this great new motor fuel today.

Sedalia Rates Among State's Safety Cities

Sedalia was praised by the Board of Governors of the Automobile Club of Missouri at the 55th annual meeting, held in St. Louis Tuesday, May 21, for earning a place among the 70 cities on the Auto Club Honor Roll of Cities by having no traffic fatalities to children of school age during 1956.

"The ever increasing number of cities that are taking their places on the Honor Roll," George Marsh, Auto Club president, said, "is evidence of the growing interest in safety by more and more communities. The efforts of public officials, police, civic groups and individual motorists to cooperate in safety activities, such as the school safety patrols, is really paying off in the saving of the lives of our children."

"It is especially noteworthy," Marsh said, "that three cities are on the Auto Club Honor Roll of Cities for the 14th consecutive year, which gives them a perfect record since the Auto Club started making this safety award among cities of 5,000 or more population. The three cities with these fine records are Moberly, Trenton and Washington."

The names of the cities appearing on the Honor Roll, together with number of consecutive years of perfect score for each, follow: Bellefontaine Neighbors, 4; Berkeley, 7; Booneville, 11; Brentwood, 7; Brookfield, 12; Carthage, 4; Caruthersville, 4; Charleston, 8; Chillicothe, 8; Clayton, 7; Columbia, 10; De Soto, 13; Dexter, 2; Excelsior Springs, 7; Ferguson, 5; Festus, 6; Flat River, 8; Fulton, 13; Glendale, 2; Independence, 2; Jefferson City, 3; Jennings, 7; Kennett, 1; Kirksville, 10; Kirkwood, 13; Ladue, 7; Lebanon, 11; Lexington, 13; Liberty, 3; Maplewood, 7; Marshall, 6; Maryville, 13; Mexico, 10; Moberly, 14; Monett, 2; Neosho, 4; Nevada, 10; Perryville, 2; Pine Lawn, 6; Poplar Bluff, 1; Richmond Heights, 13; Rolla, 9; St. Ann, 5; St. Charles, 7; Sedalia, 2; Shrewsbury, 4; Sikeston, 12; Springfield, 1; Trenton, 14; Warrensburg, 8; Washington, 14; Webb City, 5; Webster Groves, 4; Wellston, 4; West Plains, 2; Alton, Ill., 1; Centralia Ill., 3; Chester, Ill., 7; Collinsville, Ill., 5; Duquoin, Ill., 7; E. Files Suit Against Union After Shooting

GUNTHERSVILLE, Ala. — It was quiet today around a construction project where gunfire killed two men and wounded six others.

The shooting yesterday resulted in a $250,000 damage suit filed in Marshall Circuit Court here against United Mine Workers, District 50.

The court action was filed by Gulf States Construction Co. Inc., of Atlanta, whose workers clashed with UMW pickets at a plant being constructed for the Cotton Producers Assn.

Gulf States also was granted a temporary injunction against mass picketing at the plant.

The suit named James L. Ledbetter and Ed Payton, UMW representatives, as the chief defendants. Ledbetter and Payton could not be reached immediately for comment.

The suit charged the UMW with conspiring to violate the laws, and to prevent Gulf States from working at the plant "by use of violence, threats, intimidation, mass picketing and the shooting of the plaintiff's work superintendent and the murder of one workman."

State, county and city officers were investigating the shooting that killed 22-year-old John Leroy Ward of Parsons, Kan., and the Rev. William Clinton Harrison, also 22, an itinerant minister who was in the picket line.

Airman Hurt When Car Falls From a Jack

A/3c Gary Goff, 21, 340th Transportation Squadron, Whiteman AFB, was injured about 9:30 a.m. Tuesday when trapped under his car when it slipped from a jack. His injuries were not considered serious.

The car started sliding to one side and before Goff could get out from it he was trapped by the left side when the brake drum rested on his chest.

Mr. Campbell, Harry W. Terrill, Ray Martin, and several other neighbors rushed to the scene and replaced the jack and got the car off of him. Goff was taken to the Bothwell hospital in the Ewing ambulance.

Dr. John Lamy rendered treatment and the young man then went to the hospital at the Whiteman AFB.

Correction

Through a misunderstanding of police records the name of A/3c George T. Lyons, 18, Whiteman AFB, was carried as being fined for fighting when in fact he was a witness and was not fined. Instead the name of A/3c Freddie E. Bingham, also of the 340th Field Maintenance Squadron, should have appeared as being fined.

It was explained Lyons had nothing to do with the charges either filed against Roy Lutjen, who was fined and given a stay, or Bingham, other than he was a witness to the affair. Lyons has no record whatsoever with the Sedalia Police Department.

Bandit

cream top and has license No. 55-939 on it.

The car was driven to Beaman and past it a short distance where C. O. Berry, a highway employee was working. The Negro asked Berry how to get to either Highway 135 or Highway 65. After giving him some directions, Berry reported the Negro replied, "Well, I had better get more gasoline," and turned around and drove toward the station.

Berry was unaware of the robbery until sometime after it had been executed.

The amount of money taken was not immediately learned, but the youth said it was in the neighborhood of $200.

The station is located at the Beaman "T" intersection near the pear orchard corner.

Sedalia police who received the call and relayed the message to the State Highway Patrol and the Sheriff's office sent cars out in hopes of intercepting the bandit's car. One car went north on Highway 65 and found Paul running south down the highway near the Burkholder farm. He told them the car had gone on north and they were about three minutes behind.

Police returned the youth to the police station where he gave his statements.

The boy's father, a rural mail carrier, returned to his route following the holdup.

The State Highway Patrol has issued a state-wide pickup order for the car. A description was obtained and also broadcast to other police officers in surrounding communities.

Long Heralded 'Giant' To Be Here Sunday

"Giant," one of the most eagerly awaited motion pictures ever to be produced will make its premiere here Sunday, June 2, at the Uptown Theatre. The excitement that began with Warner Brother's announcement that George Stevens was to film the Edna Ferber best-selling novel, gained in ever increasing momentum as the months of production slowly rolled into three years. George Stevens, who directed the film, is responsible for such screen masterpieces as "Shane," "A Place in the Sun," "Talk of the Town" and "I Remember Mama."

Some of the screen's most exciting stars will be seen in "Giant." Elizabeth Taylor plays the lead role of Leslie Benedict. Rock Hudson portrays her husband, Bick. He is the ruler of a vast empire of land and cattle in Texas. James Dean stars as Jett Rink, an ambitious and hard working ranch hand. Carrol Baker, an exceptionally talented young actress, also plays an important role in the film. "Giant" also stars Jane Withers, Chill Wills, Mercedes McCambridge and Sal Mineo.

"Immediately relaying the information of the twister's direction of travel toward Kansas City, the Navy plane began dodging the violent weather. Moments later two more of the tornadoes were spotted.

"Advance warnings of the killer funnel's possible approach had been given by the Kansas City weather bureau, based partly on the visual contact made with the howler by the Constellation. The bureau poured out a steady stream of reports which were broadcast and televised by Kansas City stations.

Farmer Share Of Food Price Takes Drop

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reported today that the farmer's share of the consumer food dollar was 39 cents during the first quarter of this year.

This compared with 40 cents during the last quarter of 1956 but was the same as the corresponding quarter a year ago. During World War II the farm share rose to 54 cents.

Charges for marketing farm-produced foods were 4 per cent higher in the first quarter of this year than in the same period last year. Prices received by farmers were up 5 per cent and retail food prices were 4 per cent higher.

Higher prices for meat and meat animals accounted for much of the rise in consumer and farm prices, the department said.

"Operating costs of food marketing firms generally were higher in the first quarter than they were a year earlier," said a department report on the marketing and transportation situation.

"Hourly earnings of food marketing employees averaged about five per cent higher. Transportation charges were up, and railroads asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for further increases in freight rates. Prices of supplies, equipment, and other things marketing firms buy generally increased during the past year."

The department said further increases are likely in marketing charges this year, mainly because of prospective advances in costs.

The retail cost and the farm value of choice grade beef increased 7 and 8 per cent, respectively, from the first quarter of 1956 to the same period this year. The marketing margin increased 6 per cent during the same period.

The department reported also that incomes of firms processing and marketing farm products were generally larger in 1956 than in 1955. Increases ranged from 4 per cent for leading bakery firms to 24 per cent for sugar refiners.

Army Wages New Type Mock Battle on Old Cavalry Site

By HAL BOYLE
FT. RILEY, Kan. — Here on vast rolling plains where it trained some of its greatest military heroes, the U. S. Army is engaging in mock battles of a new kind of war—atomic war.

The experiments going on here would amaze some of those past cavalry heroes—"Jeb" Stuart, George Custer, George Patton and Jonathan Wainwright.

The experiments are also a bit confusing to some of the present heroes here—infantrymen, tank men and artillerymen trying to puzzle out the role of ground forces on an atomic battlefield.

As one officer put it: "No one ever really fought on an atomic battlefield. We have to feel our way."

But enthusiasm and morale are

July 1 Deadline For 'New Farm' Applications

July 1 is the last date that the county ASC office can accept applications for "new farm" allotments for the 1958 winter wheat crop, according to C. A. Staples, chairman of the Pettis County ASC Committee.

If a farmer who had no wheat seeded for grain in 1955, 1956, or 1957 wants to plant a 1958 crop, he must apply in writing to his county ASC committee, Staples said. The county office has these forms available now.

The county office will mail these forms to farmers on request, and the farmer must complete the form and file it at the county ASC office on or before the closing date, July 1.

To determine the eligibility of applicants for "new farm" wheat allotments, the county ASC Committee will consider the tillable acreage, type of soil, and topography of the farm; the operator's farming system; the extent to which his livelihood depends on his farming operations; and the reason that he has not planted wheat in any one of the three previous years.

Producers on farms which receive "new farm" wheat allotments will not be eligible for participation in the Soil Bank's Acreage Reserve program with respect to such "new farm" allotments.

Chairman Staples said that no request for a new farm allotment will be considered unless it is made in writing on or before the closing date.

UNION, N.J. — A mailman who allegedly believed in putting extra loads of mail to rest in Holywood cemetery was arrested by postal inspectors here yesterday.

Albert Mueller, 28, dumped circulars, magazines and postcards from his sack on three occasions when the load was especially heavy, the inspectors said.

They quoted Mueller as saying, "I failed to deliver the mail only on days when it was heavy." He was charged with destruction of mail.

the son held in jail while the investigation is being made.

$39 Million GrantedSix Earth Satellites Planned For US Part in IGY StudiesBy ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States plans to shoot out six satellites during the International Geophysical Year. Each will be geared to seek out specific new facts about things in space that affect the way we live.

The first one has a window to look at the sun, and microphones to hear and count thousands of meteors the size of dust specks. Or, horribly bigger, puncturing ones to endanger future space travelers.

Instruments for this first satellite are about perfected, a visit to the Naval Research Laboratory shows. Here the complete satellite balls are being assembled.

Congress has granted 39 million dollars so far for the U. S. part of IGY global studies. About half is going for satellites.

The Department of Defense is in charge of developing and shooting the rockets to raise the moon.

Doubt Boonville Will Have Rural Fire Department

Although 106 Boonville area farmer owners and business firms have given checks toward the formation of a Boonville Rural Fire department, it appears as if the whole project might flop—leaving the rural Boonville area without fire protection.

Checks to date total $6,300, Maurice Thoma, temporary treasurer of the organization, said Saturday. But he added, it looks as if this is about all that will be obtained.

At least $10,000 is needed to purchase a fire truck to serve the rural Boonville area.

Nearly all solicitors have turned in the checks they have collected, Thoma stated. A few others are expected by the time of the organization's meeting Monday night.

The group will meet again at 8 p.m. Monday in the circuit court room of the Cooper County courthouse, Henry Fuser, temporary chairman of the organization, pointed out.

Attempt to Sail From Tahiti to Chile Ends When Raft Sinks

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—The attempt of five men to sail by raft from Tahiti to Chile has ended in the sinking of their craft, the Tahiti-Nui.

The Chilean navy frigate Baquedano, which was towing the raft, picked up French explorer Eric de Bisschop and his crew of four and most of their equipment.

The 14x40-foot bamboo raft went down on Monday near the Juan Fernandez Islands, 400 miles from the Chilean coast, after a stormy sea broke the tow cable.

De Bisschop and his crew sailed last Nov. 6 from Tahiti, hoping to prove that Polynesians could have to duplicate in reverse the voyage of Thor Heyerdahl's Kon-Tiki from Peru to Tahiti in 1947.

A bad storm last week carried away the Tahiti-Nui's mast and several of her bamboo logs. Her radio appeal for help brought the frigate out to tow her.

Sound travels four and one-half times faster in water than it does in air.

CORNMEAL gives these sweet orange rolls a crunch texture.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

When Sunday morning rolls around, serve a hot bread breakfast treat to your family.

You don't have to get up real early to prepare these rolls if you sift and measure the dry ingredients the night before. Cut in the shortening then, too, to save time next day. While the oven preheats on Sunday morning, stir in the milk and orange juice and roll out. This hot bread has a filling and you can get that ready ahead, too. Grate the orange rind called for and mix it with the brown sugar and chopped nuts; cover and store in the refrigerator. While you are rolling out the dough, the butter needed for the filling can be melted. When the rolls are in the oven you can mix up the frosting.

Let these rolls rest for about 5 minutes when you take them out of the oven so the filling ingredients have time to set, but do serve the rolls while they are still pretty warm. If there are any rolls leftover, try splitting and toasting them; we like them even better this way than first time around!

TV Network Retracts Statements

NEW YORK (AP)—TV interviewer Mike Wallace and the ABC network retracted statements that ex-gangster Mickey Cohen recently tossed at the Los Angeles police chief and others.

The gangster turned florist appeared on the Mike Wallace interview May 19.

Last night Oliver Treyz, vice president in charge of ABC's television programs, went on the Wallace show and said the Cohen appearance created "something most unfortunate, unexpected and profoundly regrettable."

He said that because of the spontaneous nature of the show, the network has no "advance knowledge of what actually will be said during the program."

"Leonard Goldenson, our president," continued Treyz, "joins me most earnestly in stating that the American Broadcasting Co. retracts and withdraws in full all statements made . . . concerning the Los Angeles city government, and specifically Police Chief William H. Parker, Capt. James Hamilton of the department intelligence squad, former Mayor Fletcher Bowron and former Police Chief Clarence B. Horrall."

Wallace followed Treyz and said he "sincerely" joined in the statement.

Treyz said Cohen's remarks "in no way represented" the network's attitudes or beliefs. He said ABC "deeply regrets the wholly unjustified statements" made by Cohen.

The network said the program sponsor also joined in the retraction statement.

But Cohen scornfully spurned the retraction.

"Any retractions made by those spineless persons in regard to the television show I appeared on with Mike Wallace on ABC network does not go for me," said Cohen.

A New Look for leftovers

Dress them up in Holsum Toast Grabaskets

Suggests Betty Baker, Home Economist, American Research Kitchen

Cleaning up leftovers is no problem when you try this easy trick. Just take slices of fresh Holsum Bread, remove crusts, butter, and press each slice into muffin tin—forming a little basket or shell. Bake at 350° for about 10 minutes or until lightly browned.

Fill each basket with leftover meat (ham, chicken, turkey, shrimp, crab, etc.) combined with cream or cheese sauce. If you have leftover vegetables, try combining them with tomato sauce and meat. Creamed egg-tuna and dried beef take on new elegance when served in toast grabaskets, too.

Besides adding a dainty party touch to plain leftovers, Holsum Toast Grabaskets furnish vital nutrients essential to health. Vitamin B1, B2, Iron, Calcium, and Nicotin are contained in each delicious slice of enriched Holsum Bread.

The War Against Poisons

Spring house cleaning still goes on. Do homemakers ever catch up on this job, spring, summer or winter?

One place which ought to be kept spic and span the year around is the medicine cabinet, receptacle for nostrums to kill dirty germs. It should have clean surroundings.

Tidying a medicine cabinet, however, offers an invitation for trouble. How often are housewives interrupted in this occupation to answer the telephone or doorbell? A child may enter the room and start toying with pill bottles or what not, maybe start swallowing or chewing some poisonous remedy.

The other day a four year old girl made a mistake when she took some barbiturate and anti-histamine tablets left within reach. She died because of the negligence of an adult. Drugs prescribed by a physician are necessary to have around but mighty dangerous unless kept out of the reach of children.

Last year 340 youngsters up to five years of age died of accidental poisoning in the home and comprised 32 per cent of all such deaths.

Within the next 24 hours three people will have died from accidental poisoning in the United States, and at least 425 will consume something poisonous but survive, according to the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Ten years ago the accidental poison deaths were much greater. There was a time when many poison cases could not be treated successfully for want of a remedy or specialized advice. Now poison control centers in more than 35 cities and new ones being formed at the rate of two a month, provide doctors with quick aid from top authorities in this highly specialized field.

This is an important phase in the national fight against accidental poison killers.

But one of the primary steps in the all out war against poisons should be taken in the home with a discussion among adults about careless handling of pill bottles.

And that includes checking the medicine cabinet from time to time to see that poisons are plainly and properly labeled for adults and also kept out of reach of curious-minded youngsters.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Morse and Bridges Senatorial Courtesy

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Shortly before Republican senators excoriated Democratic Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon on the Senate floor, Morse got a call from the chief attacker, Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire.

Morse had charged in a Detroit speech that Eisenhower was "the same kind of immoralist" as Beck, because his administration had granted rapid tax write-off certificates to the Idaho Power Company on its three Hells Canyon dams. The White House was sizzling.

"Wayne," said kindly, conservative Senator Bridges just before the Senate convened, "we've been good personal friends, so I wanted to notify you that the White House has been putting a lot of pressure on me. I'm going to have to make a speech on the floor this afternoon in regard to your Detroit remarks comparing the President with Dave Beck."

"I want you to know that there's nothing personal about it. I simply have a job to do and I'm sure you'll be able to take care of yourself."

"I'll do the best I can," replied Morse, and was on deck when the Senate opened, ready for the attack.

Washington Traffic
Sen. Thurston Morton (R., Ky.) got stalled in a Washington traffic jam the other day en route to his office. Cars closed in from all sides. In desperation, he flagged a police cruiser and identified himself.

"I'm not asking for any special favor to get ahead of all this crowd," he said, "but I do have to get to work. Would you please help me get out of here?"

"Senator," the policeman drawled, "I'm stuck, too. If you can figure a way out, I'll follow you."

Thereupon, Morton led the police cruiser inch-by-inch through the clogged traffic.

Fancy Dan Admiral
When President Eisenhower read in the newspapers that Adm. Arthur Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, had sounded off that the Russians never could be trusted on disarmament, he grabbed the telephone.

Ike is about the mildest president the American public has ever seen in press conferences and when he appears on television. But in private conversations, especially with military men, he can chew out an admiral or a general as if he were a buck private. This is what he did to Radford.

He told the chairman of the joint chiefs that he could say anything he wanted against disarmament in the secrecy of the White House, but that it was not his business to sound off publicly against disarmament. A military man's place is in the council room, not on the platform, Ike told Radford in effect. Talks with Russia are at a critical stage, and remarks such as the admiral's might ruin everything.

This was the background behind the President's press conference remarks later that he is willing to meet the Russians halfway in any reasonable disarmament plan.

Guest Editorial—

COLUMBIA MISSOURIAN: The M-Bomb. Mankind is to survive, it appears that it must develop a new type of bomb—the M-Bomb. The M-Bomb will require all the resources at our command just as the A and H Bombs did—more in fact. We will need the coolest heads with the best brains working around the clock on the project.

The bomb will have to be tested again and again to ensure success. Failures will have to be met with renewed determination repeatedly.

The project will require the backing of the peoples of not only America but of all nations of the world.

It will need genius, patience, dedication, determination, courage, endurance and a thousand other human qualities.

But when and if the M-Bomb becomes a reality, it will be worth all the effort that has been put into it. Indeed, whatever price humanity pays for the project will be a bargain.

Presently, the concept of an M-Bomb is no more than a dream. But were not all great human advances once considered wild dreams of mad men? Columbus, Lindbergh, Edison and others all had their scoffers.

Every human being on this earth has a part to play in the realization of this dream—the M-Bomb. For each will be affected by its fallout. For the M-Bomb will be the Morality Bomb.

No other weapon can offer hope to mankind.

Civil Rights Proposals in Stalemate

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Both the Democratic and Republican campaign platforms of 1956 backed a civil rights program to protect Negroes' voting rights. Now that program is like a rowboat on Broadway.

It looks high and dry and not likely to be going any place. The House will probably pass it, in some form. But there's a good chance the Senate won't even consider it until 1958.

The House begins debate next week. Unless Republicans and other Democrats are willing to stop them, Southern Democrats will tack on amendments which will render President Eisenhower's civil rights proposals meaningless.

Southern Democrats have stalled civil rights legislation in both houses. They did it in committees. On the House side the Judiciary Committee—headed by Rep. Celler (D-NY)—approved what Eisenhower wanted weeks ago.

Then it went to the House Rules Committee, where the chairman, Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va.), is a long-time foe of civil rights legislation. It was finally pried loose there and now awaits full House action.

On the Senate side the same bill is still tied up in the Judiciary Committee, which is headed by Sen. Eastland (D-Miss.), an even more outspoken foe of civil rights legislation than Smith.

In a check yesterday, this writer could not even get a guess on whether Eastland's committee—where only 4 of the 15 members are Southern foes of this bill—will turn the measure loose this session for full Senate action.

But if it does, the bill is in even more trouble. In these next two months the Senate will be in a rush to finish up and quit for the year. A fight on civil rights could mean weeks of delay. Senators may prefer to let a showdown lie over until 1958.

If the bill is brought out, the Southerners will filibuster. A filibuster can be stopped only by a constitutional two-thirds—64—of all 96 senators. That's hard to get any time. No Southern filibuster on civil rights has been broken in more than a generation.

It could be broken, of course, any time enough of the non-Southerners, Republicans and Democrats, wanted to break it.

Senators Lyndon Johnson of Texas and William Knowland of California, the Democratic and Republican Senate leaders, earlier this year talked of changing the Senate rules to make it easier to break a filibuster.

For example: If the rules were changed to let a filibuster be broken by just two thirds of the senators present at voting time, it would be a lot easier than under the present rule requiring 64 of the 96 senators.

But any attempt to change the rules would, by itself, provoke a furious fight by the Southerners and mean more delay for a Senate which otherwise would be nearing the time to go home.

Eisenhower's proposal would set up a special commission to investigate reported violations of civil rights: create a civil rights division in the Justice Department, with a new assistant attorney general; and let the government get a federal court injunction before an election to halt any illegal interference with voting rights.

Anyone—say a registrar of voters—who violated this injunction could be tried by a federal judge, without a jury of his neighbors who might share his views and therefore be lenient with him.

Southerners particularly are against this provision for trial by judge. If they manage to substitute trial by jury, they will have knocked the most pointed part of Eisenhower's program out the window.

Sex No Diplomatic Deterrent

Understanding of Past Needed to Cope With Future

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—The new U. S. Ambassador to Norway, Frances Willis, told a group of women leaders the other day informally what it takes to be a good diplomat.

Here is the formula given by the only career woman diplomat to become an Ambassador.

1. Have technical knowledge of the foreign country to which assigned, including the native language.

2. Have the more subtle qualification of getting on with foreigners and yet not lose American point of view.

3. Understand the point of view of the people in the foreign country and yet not necessarily concur.

4. Have the kind of temperament to enjoy a country and yet be ready to pack up and go on to the next post. (If not flexible enough to do this, Miss Willis says the person "just isn't the type or is too old.")

Ambassador Willis is living proof a person can start at the bottom in the State Department and get to the top and she's proud of it.

To this woman with a 25 year service record, "It isn't enough to be a loyal American, the envoy must love his job, understand it and more importantly must be able to interpret it to others."

Maybe because she once taught history at Goucher College, Ambassador Willis is convinced the present can not be understood without understanding the past.

One of the joys is "the lack of monotony" and there is no such thing as a "typical day," she said. For example, when a Vice Consul in Valparaiso, Chile, she had to help cowboys who went broke. In Geneva, she was a part of the 1955 Meeting at the Summit of the Big Four. In 1929, a U. S. battleship arrived with President-elect Herbert Hoover aboard. In Brussels, when the Nazis entered the city, Robert Murphy, Deputy Under Secretary of State, saluted her "special courage" during the period.

Not just diplomats, but every American citizen has "a role to play and an obligation in our foreign affairs," she contends.

She cited three developments in the 20th century which greatly influenced the responsibility of private citizens of the United States in foreign affairs:

1. Modern communications and transportation have about eliminated time and distance. "Splendid isolation is not possible for any nation."

2. In many countries there is an increase of democratic control.

3. The United States has become the biggest and strongest country in the free world. "We didn't elect that position, but whether we like it or not any bulwark of liberty depends on what the American government does or does not do."

Again and again, Ambassador Willis said that sex is no deterrent to climbing high in the diplomatic service. More women are climbing, but the fact remains she's the one and only to arrive.

The Mature Parent

Constant Criticism Breeds More Child Misbehavior

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

One day when Roy was five, he became angry at his mother. Not daring to kick her he kicked the refrigerator, making a black smudge on its white enamel.

She didn't require him to clean it. Instead, she cleaned it herself, crying angrily, "That's right—make more work for me! You bad boy, I don't know what devil gets into you. Go on—get into the yard before I hit you..."

Roy ran into the yard, pursued by these accusing words. They echoed louder and louder inside him, multiplying into terrifying thoughts. Would his mother ever be kind to him again? Why should she be kind to a boy she considered so bad? If she wasn't, then before him was only this bleakness—this awful feeling of Nothingness...

In no time, these anxious thoughts had got Roy into more trouble. As our childish despairs once absorbed all our attention, so they now absorbed so much of Roy's that he had little left to give to what he was doing. So he lost his footing on the trellis he was trying to climb and fell, tearing a big rip in his new sweater.

This mistake brought more accusing words. In their turn, they multiplied more anxious thoughts that preoccupied more of his attention so that he got mixed up in another mistake.

This is how a child begins to develop a record of misbehavior. Pursued by our criticism, he becomes so preoccupied with his deficiencies that they begin to seem more real than the physical world around him. Lost in our disapproval of his past, he becomes virtually unable to control himself in the present.

What do we do? We certainly can't pretend to approve of kicks on the icebox. I think the answer is to say: "Now that you have made the mistake of smudging the icebox, take this damp cloth and wipe the mistake away."

This is easy to do the moment we see that we are helping Roy to erase, not the smudge, but his anxiety over our disapproval. We are able to insist on the correcting act because by it he cancels out the unacceptable one—and is released from the burden of the past.

Such discipline preserves Roy's integrity. It is love.

Thinking It Over

By Robert Dieffenbacher, D. D.

Birds dot the landscape with color and spurts of movement which make us more appreciative of life. The songs of these feathered creatures tingle in our ears and give us an awareness of nature which we should otherwise overlook. In the spring the thousands of birds seem to be so happy that we mortals catch the contagion of their happiness.

These flying bits of life do not just happen. They are not the product of man. They have so much purpose in being that we become humble in the presence of their joyous existence. They destroy harmful insects. They eat the seeds of weeds. They peck away at grubs and caterpillars.

The lesson of the birds is a lesson from the Creator. We could be so happy if we did the little tasks which lie ever before us. We could make the world so much better if we merely served to the extent of our abilities. We would lift others if we sang our praises of God while we did the routine chores of life.

Looking Backward...

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

W. J. Peterson, Pittsburg, Kan., chairman of the promotion division of the 35th Division of the U. S. Army, composed of Missouri and Kansas troops in the World War was in Sedalia in formation of plans for the reunion of that body here Sept. 23, 24 and 25. He said ten thousand were expected for the reunion.

Charles M. Hay, St. Louis attorney, candidate for the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senator, addressed a crowd of over 300 men and women at the courthouse.

Elwood Trueblood, Cedar Rapids, Ia., was called here owing to critical illness of his father, J. W. Trueblood, 1713 South Osage, who was a patient at the Missouri Pacific Hospital in St. Louis.

S. H. Van Arsdale, formerly of Sedalia, residing at Marshall, announced that "Jim," the wonder dog, owned by him would be at the Chicago World's Fair to be held in 1933.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Sunday, May 27, at the First Methodist Church the Rev. Eli P. Anderson, pastor, addressed civil war veterans and patriotic bodies in a Memorial Service that was attended by 1 G.A.R. veterans and a large audience.

In the wake of tornadoes sweeping the west and southwest several persons in Missouri were left injured at Mansfield, Wright County, and Chadwick in Christian County.

Mayor J. L. Babcock issued a proclamation declaring June 5, date for registration of men in the ages 21 to 30, a holiday. This was an advanced step for military service.

Leslie Wackher, a student at the University of Missouri, Columbia, returned there to resume his studies after a visit with home folks.

To Rescue Paper Savers

Every now and then men start to fret anew about the paper avalanche that is snowing modern industrial civilization under. Both as an individual and as a cog in a corporate machine, man today tends to squirrel away papers and documents of every conceivable variety.

On the personal level, either he fears he might need the stuff some day for tax or other business purposes, or he wants it around as a memory prop for some glowing episodes in his past life.

Down at the office, the rule for decades has been: save everything. You never know when an important deal may hang on some yellowing piece of paper stashed away in a dusty file.

Well, the burden is getting too heavy and man is trying to crawl out from under. There are consultants today who will run through your business files and advise you what you must save and what you can chuck out. And these same fellows are starting to nose around the house and tell you what you ought to fill your desk with and what can hit the wastebasket.

Obviously, this is a movement that deserves momentum.

Don't Scare Easily

The little countries are supposed to tremble in their boots at the merest mention of nuclear weapons. But some of them just refuse to quake.

The newest example is tiny Denmark, which not long ago got one of those nasty Russian notes warning it would be suicide to allow NATO atomic installations on Danish soil. The Kremlin raised the usual bogey of nuclear annihilation in event of war.

But the tough Danes are going to tell Moscow in sharp terms that NATO is not an aggressive agency but a purely defensive alliance. And they are emphasizing the intent of NATO countries big and little to stick together no matter what the threats.

This is the stuff of which real strength is built. So long as NATO's members show the kind of spirit the Danes and the Norwegians are exhibiting, the alliance is in no danger of cracking and Russian communism is unlikely to bulldoze its way westward through Europe.

Thought for Today

And he said, Hear thou therefore the word of the Lord: I saw the Lord sitting on his throne and all the hosts of heaven standing by him on his right hand and on his left.

Other Fires

Fire completely demolished a small frame house rented by Penn Sally and his family in Warsaw. At approximately 11 p.m. May 22 the Warsaw volunteer fire department answered the fire alarm. The blaze stubbornly refused to succumb to the efforts of the firemen as the heat intensity increased. A tin roof covered the burning shingles, making the house a virtual inferno as the water could not get to the blaze. After the fire was supposedly out, some of the smoldering shingles broke out in flames again. The firemen made a second trip to the home about an hour after the first alarm.

None of the Sally family were injured in the fire and a few of their household items were saved. An over-heated chimney was credited for starting the fire.

Mr. Sally rented the house from John Reser, Warsaw.

The following appeared before LaMonte Police Court Judge Rolla Bobbitt:

Henry J. Bellamy, Hughesville, reckless driving and failure to keep car under control. Pleading guilty and was fined $15.

Prison Inmate Sends Message to Family On a Rubber Ball

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—An inmate at Eastern State Penitentiary used a rubber ball he threw over the wall to send a message to his 16-month-old son.

Marie Ann Mazur, 11, found the ball. She read a message lettered in ink on the pink sphere:

"Please, sir or miss, if this ball gets over the wall, will you please give this to my son Jeffrey Curry, address 1700 W. Master St. and ask for Louise? Thank you very much." On a separate part of the surface was printed the thoughts of a lonely man to his family: "With all my love and kisses."

The message came from Jeffrey Curry Sr., 21, serving a two-to-five-year sentence for burglary. Marie Ann and her parents Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mazur delivered the ball to Mrs. Curry. She said her husband had been in prison since February.

Hieronimus, Moore Vie In British Amateur Golf

One Sedalia golfer and another former Sedalia links ace were among 34 Americans who opened play Monday in the British Amateur Golf Championship at Formby, England.

Damon Hieronimus, the Sedalia Country Club's golfingest member who acts as this city's good will ambassador of golf, lost his first match Monday to J. G. Gow of Formby, 5 and 3. But in spite of the defeat, Damon said he enjoyed "every minute of it."

As to his game, Damon remarked, "I played terribly," but reiterated "it was great fun just playing in the British amateur."

Damon is the first Sedalia to ever compete in the tournament, one of the year's biggest.

Local golfers are also proud to claim Preston Moore Jr., Houston, Tex., as an unofficial Sedalia representative to the tournament. Preston, former Whiteman Air Force Base lieutenant and member of the Sedalia Country Club in 1955 and 1956, was ousted by I. H. F. Finlay of England by a 3 and 2 margin.

Golfing companions and close friends, Damon and Preston are on a 15-day holiday in Europe. They have been in England since May 21.

Damon is vice president of C. W. Flower Dry Goods Inc. and is a member of the Country Club's board of directors.

The American contingent in the international event was cut to 11 players after first round eliminations. The tournament continues until June 1.

Gag On Discussion

Welter of Rumors Surrounds National League Meeting

CHICAGO (AP)—Directors of the National League, meeting today six weeks earlier than scheduled, were surrounded by a welter of rumors all of which were tagged by official denials.

One report was that a three-way switch of franchises was in prospect, shifting the Brooklyn Dodgers to Los Angeles, the New York Giants to San Francisco, and the Cincinnati Redlegs to New York.

Commissioner Ford Frick has put a gag on any public discussion of the rumors.

Baseball Players Fight But Say 'No Punches Were Thrown'

MILWAUKEE (AP)—To hear the players tell it, last night's fight between Johnny Logan of the Milwaukee Braves and Hal Jeffcoat of Cincinnati was a typical baseball brawl — no punches were thrown.

Only Manager Birdie Tebbets of Cincinnati would say he saw a punch land in the 10th inning of the Redlegs-Braves game.

The two combatants and those nearest the point of contact, third base, didn't feel or see any flailing fists. They apparently remembered that the National League office looks askance at this sort of thing.

"He didn't hit me," said Jeffcoat, "you don't see any lumps, do you?"

"I don't think anybody got in a punch," Logan commented. "It happened so quickly—that was it."

Four Teams Certified For NAIA Tournament

ALPINE, Tex. (AP)—Four teams have been certified and four more are due this week for the NAIA baseball tournament scheduled here June 5, 6, 7.

Rollins College of Winter Park, Fla., College of the Ozarks, southwestern State of Oklahoma and host Sul Ross already are in the field.

East Carolina State has asked for a place in the tournament and appears certain to get it while Central Washington State is expected to be named Friday.

Washburn of Topeka, Kan., will be in the tournament if it wins a regional playoff and the winner of a 5-state regional tournament in Nebraska will be the eighth team.

Sedalia's Ban Johnson Chiefs will be shooting for their second league victory this evening when they take on Marshall at 8:30 on the Liberty Park diamond.

Bonus Pair In Triumph On Same Day

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A great big roll of cash in the afternoon and an easy victory at night made McDaniel Day a complete success yesterday for two Oklahoma youngsters.

In the afternoon, Pitcher Von McDaniel, 18, signed a contract with the St. Louis Cardinals for a $50,000 bonus.

And at night, while Von watched from the Busch Stadium dugout—a little in awe no doubt—Lindy, his 21-year-old brother twirled a 6-2 triumph over the Chicago Cubs.

So the Cardinals now have their first pitching pair of brothers since the fabulous Deans of the 30s.

Last night Stan Musial upped his league-leading batting average to .371, a nine-point hike.

He knocked out three hits in five times at bat, including a two-run home run off loser Bob Rush.

Wally Moon ran his consecutive game hitting streak to 20 with a second inning double.

The league-leading White Sox tumbled before the Kansas City Athletics, 7-1.

Alex Kellner hurled a seven-hitter as the front-runners suffered their worst beating of the season.

Lou Skizas' seventh home run of the season started Kellner off on the right foot in the second inning, but a four-run sixth cemented the loss on Chicago.

Kellner's first complete game of the year was his second victory of the season. He's dropped three.

Drive Final Practice Laps for Memorial Day

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Drivers ran carburetor tests and sought the "grooves" at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway today in final practice laps before the 500-mile race on Memorial Day.

The two-and-one-half-mile track will be closed for cleaning tomorrow. Thirty-three cars will roar into a flying start of the long race Thursday.

Co-favorites among the men who ought to know are Trot Ruttman, Lynwood, Calif., 1952 winner, and Pat O'Connor, North Vernon, Ind. They received four votes each last night in a poll of members in the Champion 100 Mile an Hour Club.

The club is composed of drivers who have finished the "500" at average speeds of 100 miles an hour or more.

Bill Scerba choked off the out-state team with three hits, on Friday Scerba trounced Joplin 4-1, in the quarterfinals.

Referee Petey Della (6-3-1) and Judge Leo Birnbaum (5-4-1) voted for Bethea. Judge Bill Forst (5-4-1) had Andrews ahead. The AP card had it even, 5-5.

Betha Wins Split Decision In Heavy Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—If Wayne Bethea's punch was half as strong as his chin, heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson would have plenty to worry about.

The New York truck loader sampled Paul Andrews' hardest wallop — and the Buffalo longshoreman can clout with the best — and came on to gain a split decision in a telecast 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena last night.

Betha, 24, who has never been stopped, was staggered in the second and seventh rounds but came raging back each time.

The chunky New Yorker, using his 11-pound weight edge—20½ to 190½—to good advantage, wore down the thin-legged, 6-13 Andrews with his swarming attack.

Scoring with overhead right combinations, Bethea swept the final three rounds from his tired rival to earn his third straight victory.

Referee Petey Della (6-3-1) and Judge Leo Birnbaum (5-4-1) voted for Bethea. Judge Bill Forst (5-4-1) had Andrews ahead. The AP card had it even, 5-5.

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A North St. Louis County high school, Ritenour, is the new Missouri prep baseball champion.

Bill Scerba choked off the out-state team with three hits, on Friday Scerba trounced Joplin 4-1, in the quarterfinals.

Redlegs Win Extra Inning Game 11 to 6

By ED WILKS

The Associated Press

Winning on the road and hanging on to pocket extra-inning games may not guarantee Cincinnati a pennant—but it doesn't figure to hurt the Redlegs any, either.

The Redlegs, looking more and more like champs, combined those two knacks to finally knock off Milwaukee's slipping Braves last night, twice shrugging off blown leads for an explosive, five-run 10th inning that produced an 11-6 victory.

It was the first of the season for Cincinnati against the Redlegs—seven in a row, counting one at the tail end of last season—and it stretched Cincy's winning streak on the road to 15 games, two shy of the major league record hung up by the 1917 New York Giants.

The Redlegs haven't lost on the road since April 21—when the Braves completed a three-game sweep at Milwaukee to hang a fourth defeat on then winless Cincinnati.

The extra-inning victory, the fourth of the season for the Redlegs who have won every overtime session they've had to play, kept Cincinnati two games ahead of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who beat Philadelphia 5-1 on Don Drysdale's two-hit pitching. Milwaukee, with seven defeats in 10 games, fell 3½ games behind in third.

The St. Louis Cardinals, with Stan Musial 3-for-5, belted Chicago's Cubs 6-2 in the only other game scheduled. New York and Pittsburgh were idle.

In the American, the pesky Kansas City Athletics thumped first place Chicago 7-1, trimming the White Sox lead to two games. The second place New York Yankees walloped Boston 17-6, and Detroit pushed Cleveland into third 11-5. Washington defeated Baltimore 3-2 in 11 innings in completing a game suspended April 21, then shelled the Orioles 10-6 in a regularly scheduled contest.

The Redlegs, only 10-9 in their own chummy Crosley Field but 15-3 on the road, also got around to getting their whacks against Lew Burdette, the Milwaukee right-hander who had whipped the Redlegs nine times in a row since 1955. Burdette escaped defeat, however, with an eighth-inning home run by Hank Aaron and a ninth-inning shot by Del Crandall tying it at 6-all.

Pinch-runner Hal Jeffcoat and Milwaukee's Johnny Logan got in to a scrap when Jeffcoat slid into the infielder at third base, setting off a rush of players from both benches. Jeffcoat and Logan were thrown out, but the Redlegs added three more runs before the Braves could put down the uprising which gave Hersh Freeman the victory in relief.

The Phillies got just two singles off Drysdale, both in the second inning as Ed Bouchee and Joe Lonnett connected for the run.

Duke Snider's two-run homer broke a 1-1 tie and Gino Cimoli's two-run jolt wrapped up Drysdale's fourth victory—and Robin Roberts' sixth defeat.

Musial's eighth home run, with a man on, capped a four-run Cardinal fifth that broke a 1-all deadlock and helped The Man up his NL-leading bat average to .371. Wally Moon joined in the Card attack with a double that stretched his hitting streak to 20 games.

The A's, fresh from a three-game sweep of the Tigers, got started against the Sox and Jim Wilson with Lou Skizas' seventh home run, added a pair of unearned markers and then bagged it with a four-run sixth that included a two-run single by Vic Power. It was Wilson's second defeat, while Alex Kellner worked a seven-hitter for his second victory and first complete game of the season.

Wichita Braves Halt Losing Streak With Victory Over Millers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Wichita Braves used their ace in the hole, Carlton Willey, last night to halt their losing streak at two and keep them atop the American Assn.

Willey notched his ninth straight victory without defeat in beating the pressing Minneapolis Millers, 3-2. The victory put Wichita 1½ games ahead of the second place Millers.

The 0-3 pitcher in the league Stan Williams, got lusty support from his St. Paul teammates as the Cardinals overwhelmed Indianapolis, 17-4. Williams gave up only five hits in gaining his seventh victory against one loss.

Denver moved into sixth place ahead of Charleston by virtue of the Bears 12-7 defeat of last place Louisville and Charleston's 1-7 loss to fifth-place Omaha.

Willey was in command of the Millers until the seventh inning when he walked two men. Right-hander Don McMahon was called in to help out and held the Millers at bay. One home run was hit, by Bill Taylor of Minneapolis in the second.

first relief appearance of the year. Jim Lemon's home run won the April 21 completion for the Senators, who had led 2-1 when the lights failed last month. Lemon then drove in four runs with a homer and sacrifice in the regularly scheduled game. Truman Clevenger, who hadn't managed a decision in 34 games with the Nats over two seasons, won the game.

Oscar Winner Will Appear In TV Series

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—Walter Brennan, only actor ever to win an Academy Award three times, has been coaxed and badgered into doing a film series for television. "Fella name of Pinkus talked me into it," he said. "Irving Pinkus. He's been at me two years. A real nice fella. We hit it off fine and we finally made this pilot film. Everybody who's seen it likes it."

ABC-TV has bought the series and scheduled it to begin Oct. 3. It's called "The Real McCoys" and concerns a West Virginia family who inherit a California farm—or ranch, as they call it out there. "I play Grandpa," said Brennan. "I've got a son named Luke and he's married to a girl I claim is too skinny a woman to be fittin' for farm work. And then there's little Luke and his sister, Hattie. I call her Aunt Hattie and I tell her she's goin' to be an old maid because here she is 11 years old already and ain't got a steady fella yet."

"I think this program is off-beat and has class. I don't like cheap stuff and we aim to see this isn't."

St. Paul's College To Graduate 47

Forty-seven students will receive their diplomas at St. Paul's College, Concordia, Friday night May 31, at the gymnasium. The Rev. G. E. Nitz, pastor of Grace Lutheran Church, St. Louis, will be the guest speaker.

As part of the program President Lambert Mehl will recognize the graduating class of 1932, which will have a banquet and class reunion. Principal Lorenz Wahlers will present the class and President Mehl will award the diplomas.

cheap. I hope I'm all right in it. I never do like myself much anyway. A funny thing, a lot of motion pictures I've been in I never even went to see."

Brennan is 63, but nobody would believe it if he didn't say so. From seeing him in the movies I had thought he was on the scrawny side. He's not. He's tall and sturdily built and his skin is healthy and sun-burnished. His eyes are bright and penetrating and his grip is as powerful as a woodchuck.

He owns a 12,000-acre cattle ranch near Joseph, Ore., which one of his sons runs for him. He has three children and nine grandchildren and a wife "who never once has given me a mite of trouble."

Sees Boom for Small Telephone Companies

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Independent telephone companies serve two-thirds of the nation, geographically, and they can expect a boom in the future, a speaker said last night.

Leon Roberts, information director for the U. S. Independent Telephone Assn., addressed about 500 owners and officers of the Kansas and Missouri Telephone Assns. at their 6th annual joint convention.

Decentralization of industry and homes improves the outlook for small telephone companies, he said.

The convention ends tonight.

Marriage Annulled, Wife Still Married

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Elayne C. Bessman, 31, helped her husband Sheldon get their marriage annulled yesterday, but when it was all over she still was married.

Bessman, 35, married Elayne twice, in 1943 and 1956. He claimed the second one didn't count because Elayne wasn't legally divorced from Jerome Marks, a Los Angeles man who got in the act by marrying her in 1948.

The judge agreed, saying the divorce Elayne got from Marks in Las Vegas, Nev., last year was invalid because she was a resident of Hollywood at the time.

The judge suggested she could untangle her marital record by getting a second divorce from second husband Marks, this time in California.

Story Editor Placed On 5 Year Probation

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Russell J. Burton, story editor for a Hollywood studio, has been placed on probation five years for an assault on his former wife, Pamela Joan Burton.

Burton, 36, was arrested in West Los Angeles last Jan. 13 after allegedly trying to stab his 26-year-old wife with a screwdriver and to hold her in a gutter filled with rain water. Mrs. Burton, daughter of writer F. Hugh Herbert, subsequently got their marriage annulled.

Judge Allen T. Lynch ordered Burton to pay a $400 fine as a condition of his probation, to compensate his ex-wife for injuries suffered in the attack and to submit to psychiatric treatment.

Film Story Leaves Off Real Ending

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Yes, that's just how it happened," said Jack Ford, who is technical adviser on the film, "The Lady Takes A Flyer," based on his own references.

Jeff Chandler and Lana Turner play a married couple who operate a plane delivery service, flying aircraft to all parts of the world. The conflict arises when she has a baby and decides she wants to settle down as a housewife. The picture ends with the issue let up to the audience.

With Jack Ford and his wife, the dispute ended in divorce. "We never had a fight," he declared. "We just split up over the one issue. She wanted to be a mother and make a home. I thought she should be a flier. We couldn't resolve it, so she got a divorce two years ago."

Jack is a dark-haired, handsome pipe smoker who looks younger than his 39 years. He grew up in Los Angeles, where his father was a superintendent of schools, with a passion for flying. He started flying in 1936 and flew in the service during the war.

With his wife, who had flown transatlantic deliveries during the war, he founded an aircraft delivery service. Their marriage went smoothly for a few years, though they were often at opposite ends of the world.

Then the baby came. Mrs. Ford paled on the international gadding-about and sought the home life. That's when their marriage conked out.

Jack is still sold on the business. "If you like to get around and see places, this is the life," he said.

"For instance, we might have to send a crew to Toronto to make a plane delivery to Australia," he cited. "It would be too expensive to ship the crew right home again. So maybe they'd take a plane from Australia to Algiers. Then they might make a delivery to Italy and then to Denmark."

"It might be five months before they get home again. But think of the places they have seen!"

Paroled Convict Faces Charge of Murder In Death of Woman

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (AP)—A 40-year-old paroled convict was held in jail on a murder charge today in the hammer slaying of the wife of a prominent Huntington contractor.

The nude body of Mrs. Ruby H. Miller, 38, was found yesterday in a blood-splattered bedroom of her fashionable South Side home. A blood-stained hammer lay nearby. Police Chief Clifford Jarrell said she had been beaten on the head "several times."

Elmer David Bruner, sought by police in connection with an armed robbery, had been arrested earlier in the day at his home. Frazier said Bruner had keys to a car stolen from the Miller home in his possession and was charged with murder a few hours after the body was found.

Frazier said Bruner admitted only taking the Miller car.

The husband of the victim, J. E. Miller, returned from work in late afternoon to find the house in disorder. He and a neighbor found Mrs. Miller's body beneath a pile of clothing on the bed.

The Millers lived alone in the sprawling one-story house. Their two children live outside West Virginia.

Rossellini, Writer Will Move Quarters

BOMBAY (AP)—Roberto Rossellini and his pretty Bengali script writer reportedly have decided not to live close to each other.

Count Vittorio Lavison, the Italian consul, indicated Rossellini plans to be more discreet in his relations with Mrs. Sonali Das Gupta, whose kin have been raising a cry over the reported romance.

As a start, Lavison hinted, they will give up their adjoining quarters in Bombay's Taj Mahal Hotel.

Lavison discounted reports the Italian producer, husband of actress Ingrid Bergman, has been given a week to get out of India.

"I expect Rossellini will complete his film shooting schedule before he leaves," he said.

Rossellini has gone to Poona to do some more documentary films for the Indian government. He has repeatedly insisted he and Sonali have only a business arrangement and has denied reports he plans to divorce Miss Bergman, who is in Paris.

A relative of Mrs. Das Gupta commented: "Rossellini led Sonali up the garden path and now probably will leave her in the lurch."

Sonali, 28-year-old mother of two, left home nearly a month ago to be near Rossellini. She asserted she would never return to her husband, Hari Das Gupta, an Indian movie director.

A spokesman for India's Home Ministry said the government is still debating whether it should extend Rossellini's visa so he can finish his film series.

Struggle Over Confession In Bombing

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A struggle over an alleged confession continued today as defense attorneys for two young white men charged with a racial bombing sought to keep it out of the record.

Police said Sonny Kyle Livingston Jr., 19, signed a confession and the prosecution sought to introduce it.

Livingston and Raymond C. Britt Jr., 27, are on trial on charges of dynamiting the Hutchinson St. Baptist Church Jan. 10. That church and three other Negro churches were bombed and the homes of two pro-integration ministers dynamited within a few hours.

Britt faces a later trial on charges of bombing one of the other churches and of dynamiting a Negro taxicab stand Jan. 27.

The counts carry maximum sentences of 10 years imprisonment each. Charges that carry possible death penalties are to be heard beginning Monday at trials of two other white men.

The state prosecutor, Circuit Solicitor William F. Thetford, told the 12 white men on the jury as the trial began yesterday that evidence would show "a group connected with the Ku Klux Klan met at Britt's home to plan the bombings."

John Blue Hill, chief defense attorney, countered that Britt and Livingston are innocent and he would show "who had the real motive, who stood to gain financially" from the bombings. Hill did not name anyone but did accuse "Negro agitators" of stirring up strife in Montgomery.

If the prosecution gets Livingston's reputed confession into the record, it is expected to try to enter a similar one attributed to Britt.

Hill charged that police used coercion, intimidation and even "brutality" to obtain statements which would be inadmissible as evidence.

Thetford brought out that police made no threats or promised rewards for signing the statements.

Fast Salad: Just Slice 'n Stuff

SUMMER SALAD—Fill sliced tomatoes with delicious cottage cheese and a dry salad mix.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Warm weather spurs cooks onto experimenting with salad combinations. So if you feel an adventurous urge coming on you, here are some ideas that may be new to your kitchen.

Instead of hollowing out tomatoes and stuffing them, slice each into sixths (but not all the way through) and put the stuffing between each slice so you have a pretty fan shape. You can use any stuffing you like. The following salad recipe suggests cottage cheese, but hard-cooked egg mashed and moistened with salad dressing is delicious. So is chicken or tuna salad used this way.

In the following salad recipe, we've added a dry salad dressing mix to the cheese to season it. Use the rest of the salad dressing mix to add to oil and vinegar when you are preparing tossed greens: ¼ to ½ teaspoon of the mix should be enough for a salad for four.

The dry salad dressing mix we suggest for this recipe comes in an envelope and contains spices and herbs, salt, sugar and the protein derivative called monosodium glutamate.

SUMMER TOMATO SALAD
Ingredients: 8 ounces (1 cup) creamstyle cottage cheese, 1 to 1½ teaspoons American-style dry French salad dressing mix, ¾ cup finely diced peeled cucumber, 4 small or 3 medium-sized ripe tomatoes, water cress.
Method: Mix the cottage cheese, salad dressing mix and cucumber together. Cut stem end from each tomato and place cut side down on slicing board. Cut each tomato

Receives $80,000 To Rebuild Dormitory

PARKVILLE, Mo. (P)—Park College officials reported Saturday that $80,000 had been pledged in a campaign to raise $135,000 to rebuild Alumni Hall, heavily damaged by a fire May 6.

With more than half of the campaign fund raised, officials expect to begin construction in the fall.

SUMMER SALAD TIPS

Cucumber Know-How—When you're buying cucumbers for summer salads, choose thin long ones whenever possible. They usually have small seeds and crispness. Wash the cucumber well and dry. Then, using a swivel-blade vegetable parer, remove enough of the skin the length of the cucumber to give a striped effect. Slice paper thin and serve with sliced tomatoes and French dressing.

Something Different—Scrub small zucchini squash with a vegetable brush and cold water. Slice into rounds that are about ¼-inch thick. Drop into boiling water and boil a minute or so to blanch. Drain and chill. Add to a mixed salad.

Chicken Salad—You can stretch the usual mixture of diced cooked chicken, diced crisp celery and mayonnaise by adding cooked green peas and cooked rice. Use the converted-type of rice so the kernels will be firm and whole.

"and just wait 'til you see inside...
It's the prettiest car we've ever owned!"

ANNE: It certainly is beautiful... from any angle!

BETTY: But what I like best is the wonderful feeling I get when I'm driving. Heavenly comfort! And the things they're doing with colors and fabrics these days! Honestly, I feel just like a queen!

ANNE: You should! I'm not trying to pry, but I'll bet it cost a king's ransom.

BETTY: Wouldn't you be surprised! It cost a lot less than we expected. And, Ed says it will cost less in the long run, too, because an Olds holds its value.

ANNE: Leave it to you to have your cake and eat it, too!

BETTY: And why not? Ed, bless his practical streak, wanted an Olds for its extra value and the Rocket Engine. So, who am I to say "no" to the prettiest thing on wheels? You ought to pass the word along to John!

ANNE: You can say that again! I will tonight!
